University Provost Rothe resigns Decides to return to teaching, research

By Kathy Kruse
Staff Reporter

University Provost Kenneth W. Rothe yesterday announced his intent to resign June 30, after a five-year term as the institution's chief director of academic programs, staffing and operations.

In a memorandum to University President Hollis A. Moore Jr., Rothe said that the University is in excellent academic condition and the future seems optimistic.

However, the memo said that Rothe rather would return to teaching, writing and research activities than continue in his present capacity.

According to the memo, Rothe thinks the University should replace him with a person who has "a freshness of outlook which will further enhance our (the University's) forward momentum."

Rothe said he had considered leaving office since he began to prepare an 18-page self-assessment about two months ago.

Dr. Kenneth W. Rothe

"But, of course, I was aware in September that this is the last year I had planned for," Rothe said in explaining that job effectiveness should be gauged by five-year intervals.

"For any position, I think that within a five-year period 85 percent of anything you're trying to accomplish will be done and the other 15 percent is probably going to be impossible," Rothe said, adding that that is true of the goals he set originally in 1973.

Rothe said he especially is proud of two accomplishments noted in his self-evaluation.

"The way we're dealing with the quality of faculty is of present and long-term viability," Rothe said, emphasizing tenure, salary and merit increments as areas in which lasting improvements have been made.

Secondly, Rothe said that there has been an amplification of quality throughout the University's academic programs.

"We've dealt with grade inflation and established ways to improve writing skills and we've succeeded in trying to get students more interested in academics in general, I think," Rothe said.

"That's really very positive, in my point of view," he added. "After all, that's what a university is all about."

Although Rothe will not serve the University as an administrator next year, he will continue as a physics professor here.

"Teaching is probably my first love," Rothe said. "You can teach from many positions, however. In the last few years I've found that even as provost, I've had the opportunity to teach."

Rothe said that, in addition to teaching, he has many interests he hopes to pursue, including the completion of a book.

Rothe did not say whether he discussed his resignation with other universities, but he noted that a trip to the eastern U.S. before the holidays influenced his decision.

Rothe's University projects

Dr. Kenneth W. Rothe came to the University in January, 1973, after being associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Pennsylvania.

Rothe was instrumental in creating the College of Health and Community Services in 1973 and the College of Musical Arts, formerly the School of Music in the College of Education.

Rothe initiated the organization of the University Division of General Studies in 1974 to make general education programs available to freshmen and sophomores.

During Rothe's five years at the University, he also was instrumental in expanding the curriculum. Some new degrees now offered are: genontology, dietetics, film studies, women's studies and health care administration.

In 1974, the University adopted the Committee on Program Evaluation (COPE), a review of all academic and non-academic departments under the control of the provost's office.

Rothe is a nuclear physicist and was formerly an associate professor of physics at the University of Pennsylvania. A native of St. Louis, Mo., he received his early education at Brentwood School, Essex, England.

He earned his bachelor's degrees in physics and philosophy from Middlebury College and his master's and doctorate in physics from the University of Rochester.

Council tables ordinance okaying bond issue

By Dennis J. Sadowski
Managing Editor

Construction of a K-Mart department store will be delayed because City Council last night tabled an ordinance providing for the issuance of Industrial Development Revenue Bonds.

The bonds, which only would carry the city's name and not hold the city responsible for their payment, would finance the acquisition of land and construction of the store.

If passed, it would mark the first time that such bonds would be issued for a commercial development in the city. Only industrial developments have benefited by the issuance of such bonds in the past.

OBJECTION TO THE issuance of the bonds was voiced by Councilman Roger C. Anderson, who said it would give the chain an unfair competitive advantage over other stores in the city.

"Indirectly we are saying, 'Okay, we're committed to the outlying areas, but we're committed to the downtown area, too,'" Anderson said. "If we do this (issuing the bonds) for this firm, should we do this for other firms?"

Anderson added that he was not against the chain locating in the city, and that he would also be against the issuance of such bonds if a commercial development were to locate downtown.

Council President Bruce H. Bellard said apparently the owners of downtown businesses do not object to the issuance of the bonds because none of them had spoken out against the matter during the six weeks the ordinance has been before council.

"IT SEEMS IT'S going to improve the city," Bellard said. "It's not costing us anything; just our name."

Daniel Reddin, attorney representing the developers, explained that about 230 persons would be employed once the store is open, adding "that it's just as important to improve the commercial facilities as it is to improve the industrial facilities."

Robert Hoagland, president of the Bowling Green Chamber of Commerce, said construction of the store will place the city in a "better competitive position with our sister communities" and could keep persons from moving to other areas.

Council members Joyce Kepke, Patrick Ng and Anderson voted against the ordinance. Councilmen Bellard, Joseph Corral and Richard A. Newlove voted in favor of the ordinance. Councilman Charles A. Barrell was absent.

Because no majority was cast in favor of the ordinance, council decided to table the motion until its next meeting on Feb. 6.

Art Emphasis is: Thumper, Fonzie and friends

DEBRA CZERNIAK and Beth Lueck were among the University students who, with the aid of Thumper the Rabbit and Fonzie the Hamster, helped elementary students with drawing techniques at the Art Emphasis program Saturday. Art Emphasis, sponsored by Dr. Joseph Spence and Ralph Warren, is a series of workshops offered to elementary students in grades two through eight for eight consecutive Saturday mornings, 10 a.m. - 12 p.m. The workshops, held in the Gallery of Fine Arts Building, are a creative learning experience, which include filmmaking, environmental design and body movement. Workshop leaders are Czerniak, Lueck, Joanne Koontz and Esther Vamacey, art education majors who will receive credit for independent study.

parkers in snow are a greedy lot

Take your time and do it right. With the coming of bad weather, slippery streets and icy parking lots, those using the campus parking lots are hesitant to park close to other cars and increase the risk of their cars getting hit. As a result, large gaps exist between many cars and parking capacities of the lots are greatly reduced. One way to solve this problem is for the University to better clean the parking lots. Not many drivers can park confidently if there are six inches of snow or ice covering the lot. Of course, it is impossible to expect University snow crews to remove every flake of snow as soon as it falls. Therefore, students, faculty and administrators using lots should do their part by taking an extra moment to park carefully. Some of us may be spared a three or four-block stroll from off-campus parking spots.

University parkers need to waste less space and fewer spaces.

tale of a mouse haunts house

We have a mouse in our house. We're not sure exactly when he first moved in, but since about Thanksgiving this little creature has tormented us with sabotage and other guerrilla warfare. The first time we noticed the existence of an alien being was upon returning from Thanksgiving break when we discovered that our cupboard had been ransacked. An entire coffee can full of popcorn had been shelled and a knife with peanut butter on it sat next to a half-eaten package of Saltine crackers. We all accused Jerry of doing that, but he instantly denied it. During the last week of fall quarter, we heard the mouse scurrying between the walls and scampering across the top of the ceiling, and each morning, we had to throw away another loaf of bread or box of cookies.

I FINALLY SAW the mouse the day before we left for vacation. I opened the refrigerator and saw it sleeping on a c'seecake. "What are you doing in here?" I asked. "Isn't this a Westinghouse?" it replied. "Yes." "Well, I'm westing," it said, scampering out. Honest. I wouldn't lie. That did it. We started setting traps and devising schemes for creating the demise of a mouse with such a lousy sense of humor. First we set half a dozen traps, each with a piece of the most expensive cheese we could find. The next morning, the cheese was gone, but the mouse was not caught.

IT HAD LEFT a thank you note in each trap, however. This mouse had class. When we came back from Christmas vacation, the mouse was still around, and although it had continued to eat whatever food was in the cupboards, it also had been nice enough to bring in the mail and water the plants.

'The morning after setting 10 of those traps, we found as many pamphlets supporting the ban of leghold traps.'

We weren't ready to put up with it, however. We got some better mouse traps, with steel teeth and and vicious bite. Just ask my friend, Jeff. We call him lefty now. The morning after setting ten of those traps, we found as many pamphlets supporting the ban of leghold traps.

RICH, WHO IS living with us this quarter, got a strip of glue board, which has a sticky substance to which the mouse will adhere, then suffocate when it pushes on it with its nose. We put several strips around the kitchen and bathroom, where the mouse had frequented. It didn't catch

speaking out

humphrey touched all lives

You need not be a Democrat, or even interested in politics, to lament the death of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey.

Because, in 30 years in the U.S. Senate, including four as vice president, Humphrey touched the lives of all Americans. For the poor, elderly and minorities, he was an inexhaustible crusader—a moving force behind the civil rights revolution. He also was an outspoken defender of the silent majority, often when it was unpopular to do so.

When it was time for the Senate to consider crucial legislation, the "Happy Warrior," as he came to be known, was prepared to fight for progress, but seldom lost his sense of perspective.

HE WAS AN example for all senators, particularly Democrats, to follow. He was responsive to constituent needs, yet wise, brash and honest.

Even after he was told he had terminal cancer, Humphrey did not lose his love for America or zest for life. Since August, he spent many long hours in Washington fighting for principles he believed in, even though he knew the end was near. While friends were saying the 66-year-old senator was regaining his energy and zeal, Humphrey was quietly planning his own 'Humphrey is...more than just a name. It is a set of principles, a high moral standard, an attitude to do something that's right, even if it is unpopular.'

funeral—one that would be cheerful, not solemn.

It would be impossible to adequately summarize the career of this great American in this short space, or even in this entire newspaper. But it is enough to say that Humphrey has been an institution in the United States ever since he was first elected to the Senate in 1948 as the ex-mayor of Minneapolis.

LESS THAN TWO weeks ago, in a Gallup poll, Americans said they respected Hubert Humphrey more than any man in the world, except President Carter and Egyptian president Anwar Sadat. It was a fitting farewell gift to a man who gave a little of himself to everyone.

He came from Minnesota, a state known for producing extraordinary statesmen. Hubert Humphrey was a man who could overshadow other outstanding leaders from that state, such as vice president Walter Mondale, Sen. Wendell Anderson, former Sen. Eugene McCarthy and many-time presidential hopeful Harold Stassen.

Minnesotans, more than anyone, are saddened by his loss.

Humphrey, who was serving as Senate deputy pro tempore at the time of his death, was a champion of that state's poor and rural folk. Time after time, they voted for him in enormous numbers. In 1976, when it was already apparent that HHH's health would not last, he won reelection by more than 800,000 votes.

There was no man in the last 30 years who came closer to winning the presidency without eventually holding that office. After serving faithfully as President Johnson's vice president for four years, Humphrey was defeated in 1968 by Richard Nixon for the chief executive's job by a meager 500,000 votes. Experts say he would have won if the election was a week later.

NOT SOURED BY his defeat, he returned to the Senate to continue the job he left in 1964.

Hubert Horatio Humphrey is not a name many Americans will easily forget—because it's more than just a name. It is a set of principles, a high moral standard, an attitude to do something that's right, even if it's unpopular.

HHH is an example that present and future lawmakers should, but probably won't, follow.

Upon his death, liberal Senate leaders say they will eulogize their colleague by pushing through Congress the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill, a piece of progressive full-employment legislation until now considered too controversial for Congress to approve.

The senators say passage of the bill would be a tribute to the Minnesotan. I call it exploitation of a great man's death.

But, nonetheless, Humphrey will be remembered by Americans and citizens of the world as a man who never gave up and died in the service of his country.

And that's the way it should be. Jim Sluzewski is assistant copy editor of the News.

religion discussion

This letter is in response to the entire opinion page based on religion which appeared in the Jan. 12 issue of the BG News. Of the six guest columnists, Mr. Kohl is the only one who even begins to reach a realistic point of view. Mr. Scott seemed to have done an excellent job of contradicting himself.

Theists and atheists alike should stop and think, because there are as many ideas of God as there are human beings. No one can change that.

link thanks greeks

The Link is Wood County's crisis intervention, information and referral center. We are open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. We are available by telephone, on a walk-in basis or through our monitoring the CB emergency channel 9. Our trained paraprofessional counselors listen to the clients' problems, help them decide what to do, and assist them in reaching other agencies which can help.

The Link's services are free. Whatever assistance we can offer is given by us with no charge to our client. The Link will assist in finding agencies or organizations which can provide food, clothing, transportation and housing. We also have information about financial, social, legal, medical, and employment aid. If we can't provide it, we'll try to find someone who can.

Each year The Link assists an ever increasing number of people. The cost of the assistance we give continues to rise also. Although we are funded by the Wood County Mental Health and Mental Retardation Board and the Community Chest, we also depend heavily on personal donations. We are always happy when community-minded groups or individuals offer their financial support to us.

the mouse, but it caught Jerry, who got up in the middle of the night. Fortunately, he had finished in the bathroom first.

The mouse continued on a rampage, eating a birthday cake, a box of Cap'n Crunch and wooden kitchen utensils. When our roommate Brad disappeared, however, that was the last straw.

WE HELD A vigil for six days, taking turns guarding the kitchen with a shotgun and shooting wherever we heard the mouse. Our kitchen became full of holes, but at least that mouse knew we meant business.

Finally, however, we gave up, set up a little round table on the floor and negotiated with the mouse. It drove a hard bargain, but we agreed to quit trying to rub it out if it would stay away from our bread and popcorn, and if it would return Brad.

It wouldn't return Brad unless we gave it a daily loaf of bread and a weekly Pillsbury snackin' cake. We agreed. Brad was returned.

Now there are five of us living in the house. We just hope our landlord doesn't find out. He doesn't allow pets.

Day in Review

From Associated Press Reports.

Famous names give commoners prominence

They used to tease Debbie Reynolds in high school. "People would come up to me and ask, 'How's Eddie?'" she recalled. Her only consolation was that people were asking Elizabeth Taylor the same question. Debbie Reynolds and Elizabeth Taylor went to high school together. Not the movie star this Debbie and Liz were just ordinary people with extraordinary names. They weren't the only ones who were kidded about their name during schooldays at Princeton High School, Cincinnati. Walking around school that year were Dick Tracy and James Bond. Neither became famous spies. Tracy grew up to be a meat cutter and Bond is an environmentalist. Many of those with famous names don't need to look for attention. Often, it comes in the early hours of the morning when people call them on the telephone. "Kids used to call up all the time and tell me to come over to their party," said Raymond Massey. "The teenagers call at one in the morning and say 'This is Johnny Carson. I need to see you tomorrow,'" admitted Ed McMahon. "It gets to be a problem, too, like when I bought a television last week. The salesman wanted to know my name and when I told him, he thought I was kidding."

Nation pays last tribute to the Happy Warrior

The nation's leaders joined farmers and factory workers yesterday in a final tribute to Hubert Horatio Humphrey. President Carter and Vice President Walter Mondale, members of Congress, judges and diplomats gathered at House of Hope Presbyterian Church for the funeral of the Minnesota senator. He was to be buried in neighboring Minneapolis. People waited for hours in below-zero weather outside the Minnesota Capitol, where his body lay in state, for an opportunity to walk past his casket. The Capitol remained open through the night and by mid-morning, police estimated that more than 20,000 people had filed through the marble rotunda.

Some wept, some sang spirituals and patriotic hymns. Many brought young children to say farewell to the Happy Warrior.

In August 1977, doctors discovered a large cancerous tumor in Humphrey's pelvis. His doctors said it was inoperable and tried radiation and chemical treatments to try to arrest the tumor's growth. Humphrey returned to the Senate in November to a welcome for which no one could recall a precedent. He entered the Senate chamber to find most of his 100 colleagues on the floor.

He worked daily, but when Congress recessed in December, and Humphrey went back to Minnesota, reports began to circulate that he would never return.

Violence; economy cause

Italian government to fall

Italy's 39th government since the overthrow of Fascism in World War II fell yesterday. Premier Giulio Andreotti resigned in the midst of economic turmoil, political violence and a Communist drive for power in this NATO country.

President Giovanni Leone scheduled talks with political leaders today and is expected to ask Andreotti, 59, the three-time Christian Democrat premier, to try to form a new government by Thursday. But long and difficult negotiations appeared certain.

The United States has strongly opposed entry of the Communists in the government where they would share military information of the Atlantic Alliance.

If a cabinet cannot be formed, elections for a new Parliament would have to be held, but all parties oppose this. Opinion polls indicate elections would further polarize the country, increasing support for the Christian Democrats and Communists at the expense of the smaller parties.

Andreotti, who led a one-party minority government for 17 months, resigned after it became clear that the largest Communist party in Western Europe, supported by Socialists and Republicans, would no longer allow his government to continue.

Payoff scandal informant providing 'valuable' info

Tongsun Park's chief American interrogator said yesterday the onetime Washington lobbyist is providing "very valuable" information about the Capitol Hill payoff scandal and probably will be questioned for a total of 70 hours more.

Acting Deputy U.S. Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti also told reporters he would fly back to Washington today, leaving the Park questioning to the remaining five members of his Justice Department team.

He said policy matters had been worked out so that his subordinates could continue the questioning routinely. South Korean investigators are also participating.

Park emerged from two hours of questioning yesterday morning and told reporters, "I think things are going well."

Civiletti said the testimony of the 42-year-old Korean rice dealer, central figure in the scandal is "very valuable because it is first-hand information and in many instances it provides a basis for thorough analysis together with other evidence the investigation has produced."

But he added that the interrogation was "difficult and time-consuming and takes attention."

End to Dayton busing blocked by appeals court

A federal appeals court yesterday temporarily blocked an end to court-ordered busing in Dayton public schools.

The 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati stayed a ruling by U.S. District Judge Carl B. Rubin which had allowed the school board to find its own solution to racial imbalance in the southwest Ohio school system.

The current court-ordered plan which has been in effect since September 1976 calls for busing 13,000 of the district's 37,000 students for desegregation.

The appellate court ordered that the plan be maintained pending an appeal of Rubin's ruling of last month, or until the appeals court issues another order.

Yesterday's ruling would permit the systemwide plan to remain in effect for the remainder of the 1977-78 school year.

There was no immediate word on when an appeal might be held and the appeals court said that a hearing should be scheduled "at the earliest practicable time."

Voting policy revised at ACGFA meeting

By Cheryl Geschke
Staff Reporter

Members of the Advisory Committee on General Fee Allocations (ACGFA) last Friday decided to give the group's alternates greater voting power.

In the past, alternate members of ACGFA were not permitted to vote unless a regular member was absent. Under the new rule, they also will be allowed to vote if a regular member chooses not to vote.

Members affiliated with organizations now have the opportunity to pass their votes to alternates if they think they would not be objective, according to committee member Rock E. Ross.

THE COMMITTEE also voted to have the option of dismissing regular rules with a two-thirds vote of those members present, provided at least eight voting members attend each meeting.

Dr. Bobby G. Arrowsmith, assistant vice-provost for student affairs, explained the budget request forms that organizations wishing to apply for general fee allocations must complete.

Expenses for the 1977-78 academic year must be included on the form as well as projected increases or decreases for 1978-79 in the areas of wages, travel and entertainment, equipment, communications and programs.

The committee also suggested that groups provide accounts of assets so, in some cases, several groups can use the same facilities without buying duplicate equipment.

ACGFA MEMBERS will discuss qualification guidelines for general fee funds at 3 p.m. Friday.

Dr. E. Snyder, professor of sociology is the second faculty member appointed to serve on ACGFA. His name was not included in the first list of committee members.

Women, minorities to join space shuttle corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. space agency yesterday named six women, three black men and an oriental among 35 candidates to fly on the nation's space shuttles in the next decade.

It was the first time that women and minority-group members have been named to the astronaut corps. The group of 35 is the largest contingent of astronauts ever selected and the first group named since 1969.

All of the women, two of the blacks and the oriental come aboard in a list of 20 mission specialists, whose main shuttle work will be to conduct astronomy, medical, scientific and other experiments. The other black is one of 15 pilots named who actually will fly the rocket ships.

ROBERT A. FROSCH, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said the new group will report for training

July 1 at NASA's Johnson Space Center in Houston. He said they would be eligible for flights in 1980, the second year of shuttle operations. The present corps of 27 astronauts will man the early flights, starting in about 13 months.

NASA expects by 1985 to be launching as many as 60 shuttle flights a year into the earth's orbit, carrying as many as seven persons on each flight.

The 35 were selected from 8,079 applications NASA received last year - 6,818 for mission specialists and 1,261 for pilot. Applications from women total 1,544.

Frosch said the selection process was difficult and that the winners were selected for their competitive skill and not because of race or color.

AIR FORCE Major Guion S. Bluford Jr. is not a pioneer for minorities, but "part of a team of 35 selected trying to do a job."

"I'll be a mission specialist," Bluford said in a telephone interview from Wright-Patterson Air Force Base where he is stationed.

Hopkins consultant recommends jetport

CLEVELAND (AP) - Predicting Cleveland Hopkins International Airport will exceed its capacity in the early 1990's, a consultant has recommended construction of a jetport on Lake Erie to serve northeast Ohio.

The feasibility study by the Cleveland firm of Howard Needles Tammen & Bergendoff was five years in preparation and cost $4.3 million.

Last month, as officials of the Lake Erie Regional Transportation Authority were preparing to receive the report, it was disclosed that they already had been told by the Federal Aviation Administration that the government doesn't consider the jetport necessary and no funds will be available to build it.

THE REPORT said there is little prospect for major expansion at Cleveland Hopkins International Airport beyond the 1990's. Aircraft and passenger delays will become severe and the quality of air service will be degraded, the report said.

FAA officials have said, however, that the existing airport will suffice for the area's needs beyond the year 2000.

The study, financed by federal funds and contributions from local businesses, recommends building the $2.4 billion jetport on a site 4.5 miles northwest of Cleveland, where the water is 55 to 60 feet deep.

Returning congress faces heavy schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—Even if President Carter is right in saying Congress soon will agree on an energy bill, it still faces a substantial backlog of domestic legislation this year.

Tax cuts, a new welfare system, labor law revision, and containment of hospital costs are a few items on the pending business list for the session that begins Thursday. Leaders, with an eye on the November elections and earlier primaries, hope to adjourn by the end of September.

Senate and House conferees come back to the months-long debate over control of natural gas prices, the issue that stalled the energy program. Congress couldn't settle the question in 1977, even in a session extending into December.

MANY OF THE details of Carter's proposals to reduce taxes and thereby stimulate the economy will become known when he delivers his State of the Union address Thursday. Indications are he will recommend a total of $25 billion in tax cuts for businesses and individuals.

He also may recommend tightening some tax advantages now in the law, despite congressional warnings that any substantial tax revision proposals will delay the bill.

The House Ways and Means Committee is geared to begin hearings promptly. Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., already has come out for a simple measure with a smaller tax reduction.

Among many other issues, the proposal for tax credits against college costs, which almost prevented passage of a Social Security financing bill last year, is sure to be revived.

CONGRESS appears to agree with the president that the present, almost universally criticized, state-federal welfare system must be replaced but grinding out the legislative details has been slow work.

A special House committee set up to expedite the legislation has approved in principle most of Carter's recommendations but has yet to agree on work provisions. A Senate subcommittee is expected to begin hearings later this month.

Placement Schedule

Sign-up is from 7:30-8:30 a.m. tomorrow for non-school schedules and Thursday from 6-9 p.m. for school schedules in the Forum of the Student Services Bldg.

A data sheet must be turned in at the time of the sign-up. In addition, students must turn in two data sheets or resumes to establish a credential file or they will not be allowed to interview.

WHAT A MESS seems to be on the mind of the Falcon guard Rosie Barnes as he passes out of a crowd of Huskies. The sophomore came off the bench to score 14 points in last night's loss to Northern Illinois.

Board game is non-existent

By Bob Renney
Assistant Sports Editor

It was a classic example of one team's strength operating against the other's weakness.

And unfortunately for Bowling Green it was Northern Illinois that was performing the surgery. The result was a 77-65 Mid-American Conference victory for the Huskies last night at Anderson Arena.

Hindered by injuries to Ron Hammye, John Flowers and Art Cook (BG's big men), the Falcon's board game was virtually non-existent as the Huskies (6-8 overall and 4-1 in the conference) raced to an early lead.

WITH 10:43 to go in the first half Northern had doubled both the score (26-13) and the rebounding (16-8). Largely responsible was junior forward Paul Dawkins who finished with a game high 24 points and 19 rebounds.

"They killed us on the boards and we knew they would," said a dejected BG coach John Weinert. "When you don't have the big men you can't stop the other team's inside game. And that's where they went."

"You can't name me one college team in the nation that can lose three big men and still play good inside," he said rhetorically.

The Falcons, (3-10 and 1-3) seemed resigned to the fact that they weren't going to get inside and began to pepper the rim with a barrage of long shots.

Few dropped, as they shot only 32 percent and had to rely on Duane Gray's 11 points to keep them within striking distance as they trailed 38-28 at the intermission.

THE SECOND half wasn't much better as Northern streaked to a 46-32 lead with 15:20 to go.

With the 2,278 spectators beginning to get as listless as the Falcon offense, Weinert put in his "pea-picker" unit of Rosie Barnes, Jim Feckley, Greg Kampe, Mitch Kopystynsky and James Hampton.

The five quickly responded with a full court press that forced four Huskie turnovers and the crowd to it's feet. The happiness was short-lived however, as Northern settled down and began to pull away once again 54-38.

Weinert then replaced the "pea-pickers" with his starting five which narrowed the gap to 64-56 with five minutes remaining.

THAT WAS AS close as BG could get as they missed numerous one and one foul shot opportunities that could have given the Huskies a real scare.

"All of those missed foul shots killed us in the second half," Weinert said looking at the statistics. "But what is really frustrating is that they had 23 turnovers and we only converted four of them for baskets."

For the game Northern outshot BG from the field hitting 30 of 65 attempts for 46 percent compared to 26 of 74 and 35 percent. From the charity strip it was the Huskies 17 of 26 for 65 percent and the Falcons 13 of 26 for 50 percent.

The Huskies also won the battle of the boards 69-51.

Gray led the scoring for BG with 17 points, followed by Barnes 14 and Joe Faine 10.

Jim Dixon added 16, Jay Bryant 13, and Shawn Thrower 10 to follow Dawkins' output.

The Falcons are in action again on Wednesday as they host nationally ranked Detroit (14-1) in an 8 p.m. contest.

Northern Illinois (77) — Jay Bryant 4-5 13, Frank Welch 3-0 6, Steve McCuiston 0-2 2, Dan Stacey 1-2 4, Shawn Thrower 5-0 10, Paul Dawkins 11-2 24, Ron Hicks 1-0 2, Jim Dixon 5-6 16.

Bowling Green (65) — Rosie Barnes 6-2 14, Jim Feckley 2-0 2, Duane Gray 8-1 17, Jeff Lambert 1-0 2, Joe Faine 2-6 10, Mitch Kopystynsky 1-2 4, Greg Kampe 1-0 2, Emzer Shurelds 2-0 4, Mike Huebner 3-0 6, George Marshall 0-2 2.

String broken

With a patched-up starting lineup and a five-man platoon system the Bowling Green Falcons managed to end their eight-game losing skien at Western Michigan Saturday, 65-63.

With Art Cook and Ron Hammye sidelined with injuries, Cook probably for the year, BG went with sophomore Mike Heubner and junior George Marshall in the beginning. But the entire first team was relieved by a second squad consisting of James Hampton, Rosie Barnes, Jim Feckley, Mitch Kopystynsky and Greg Kampe—and with good results.

Most impressive of the second squad was Kopystynsky, who had seen very little action coming into the game. He managed eight points and five rebounds on a three of four shooting performance from the field and two for two from the foul line.

JOE FAINE, who suffered a minor injury in practice Tuesday, scored 22 points for the Falcons, hitting several shots from the deep corner, including one that tied the game at 61 with less than two minutes left. Faine helped climax a comeback, which saw the Falcons trim a 50-45 Bronco lead.

Emzer Shurelds hit five of seven floor shots for 10 points as BG hit better than 50 percent for the game, connecting on 27 of 53 attempts.

It was Bowling Green's first conference victory after two previous failures.

Fouls costly

Fouls proved costly for the Bowling Green women's basketball team as it dropped a 77-72 decision to host Cincinnati Saturday.

The Falcons, 1-2, were able to make just six of their 14 charity attempts, while the Bearcats 5-5, canned 19 of 28.

THE MOST foul-plagued Falcon was last year's leading rebounder and scorer Bobbi Little, who was whistled with her fourth personal just 10 minutes into the contest. Little was forced to sit out for most of the game, putting the Falcons in the hole from the start.

BG rallied to trail by just one 30-29 at the intermission.

Parlayed by the hot shooting of Charissa Urbano, Jenny Gill and Sue Telljohann, the Ladybirds led for the first 15 minutes of the second half before succumbing to Cincinnati's free throw barrage.

URBANO TOOK scoring honors for the Falcons with 18 points (7 of 12 field shots), followed by Gill 14, (7 of 11) and Telljohann 12, (6 of 9). Little still managed eight points and six rebounds in limited action.

BG will be in action tomorrow when it entertains Defiance at 5 p.m.

After falling behind 24-13,

Bob Renney

Women tankers remain unbeaten

By Dan Firestone
Staff Reporter

A strong team performance by Bowling Green's women's swim team boosted its record to 4-0 with a 91-38 triumph over Western Michigan Friday.

Cathy Bujorian was a winner in the 100 meter freestyle and the 100 meter backstroke for the Falcons. Karen Gaunt was also a double winner placing first in the 100 meter and 50 meter butterfly.

The Falcons were never really threatened as they won the first four events and 11 of 15.

"IT WAS A PRETTY good team effort," Coach Tom Stubbs said.

"We have to improve our times now by working more efficiently on the strokes," he said.

Leslie Hueman and Holly Oberlin were individual winners and on the winning 200 meter medley relay with Barb Simmons and Nancy Dunton.

Bowling Green had lost its top diver, who quit the team, but the Falcon's Aimee Krauss still won the required diving event.

"KRAUSS IS DOING the best she can," Stubbs said, "and she's really improving."

Saturday's meet with Indiana State was cancelled because of bad weather conditions.

The Falcons will put their undefeated record on the line today against Oakland University in Rochester, Mich.

5-point lead Icers sweep CCHA foe

By Bill Paul
Staff Reporter

Bowling Green hockey coach Ron Mason wasn't taking anything for granted after his team's 5-3, 7-2 sweep over Central Collegiate Hockey Association (CCHA) opponent Northern Michigan over the weekend.

Even though a Saturday night crowd of 3,323 saw the sixth-ranked Falcons capture a record 12th straight home triumph and open up a five point CCHA lead, Mason wasn't nearly ready to claim the league crown.

"We're not looking at the standings yet," he said, citing two road series against St. Louis and Lake Superior as major obstacles between the Falcons and the regular season league title.

But the 12 of its 13 remaining regular-season being league affairs, Bowling Green stands 7-1 in the CCHA. In those eight games, the Falcons have outscored their opponents, 44-21.

NORTHERN MICHIGAN, which was ranked 10th in the WMPL Coaches Poll going into the weekend series with the Falcons, dropped to 4-5-1 in the CCHA and a second place tie with Western Michigan with nine points.

For Ron Mason the difference between the Falcons and the Wildcats could be described by one word—experience.

"I think that we proved we are the more veteran team," he said after his club had breezed to its 16th win in its last 19 games Saturday.

"I think Northern is a fine team. They are well coached and I like the way they play, but I think experience told the story this series."

The Falcons, now 16-5 overall, continued their season-long, first-period domination by jumping out to 3-0 intermission leads in both games.

TOM OLSEN DREW first blood for BG Friday by rebounding in his initial shot at 13:07 of the period, his first goal of the season.

Two more goals, both coming in the final 22 seconds of the first period, gave the Falcons a comfortable 3-0 lead. After Bruce Newton had connected on his second score of the season at 19:38, defenseman John Mavity slapped in a power-play goal of the face-off with only four seconds left.

Barrie Oakes replaced Steve Weeks in the Wildcat net at the start of the second period, but the results were the same as centerman Yves Pelland gave BG a 4-0 lead at 4:32 of the period.

Northern's Bill Joyce finished the period's scoring at 9:09 to break Wally Charko's shutout bid and the Wildcats connected twice in the final stanza after a Tom Newton tally, which made the final a respectable, 5-3.

Although Charko was tested only 25 times throughout the game, the netminder drew a standing ovation from the crowd of 2,801 when he stopped the Wildcat's Pat McCarthy on a breakaway at the 14:00 of the second period.

"I JUST WAITED for him to make the first move," said Charko. "As soon as I saw him go to his backhand I knew he had to shoot."

It took Byron Shutt only 42 seconds to get the Falcons rolling Saturday. The left-winger beat Oakes with a rising shot after a 2-on-2 break. Shutt assisted on Tom Thomas' goal at 13:10 and the Falcons had an early 2-0 lead.

For the second night in-a-row, BG scored with only four seconds left in the first period. This time it was Ken Morrow connecting on the power-play, his sixth goal of the season.

Brian Stankiewicz and the BG defense held the Wildcats scoreless until 39 seconds elapsed in the final period.

However, the Falcons had built a 5-0 lead after the first two frames to post a seemingly, insurmountable lead.

MIKE HARTMAN scored at the 1:55 mark to make the score 6-1 and Yves Pelland countered Wildcat Bill Joyce's goal with a short-handed beauty at 17:30 for the easy 7-2 win.

Rockets streak by Falcon grapplers, 34-15

By Tom Baumann
Assistant Sports Editor

It was a story of streaks in Saturday's wrestling match with Toledo.

The Falcons started out with 15 straight points in the match, only to have the Rockets run off 34 straight points to blitz Bowling Green, 34-15.

The first (118) and third (134) matches were easy for the Falcons. They won by forfeit. The only bright spot for BG was the 126 pound match as Jay Liles, who regularly wrestles at 118, decisioning Toledo's Tim Dishong, 8-4.

"THE 126 MATCH was probably the most exciting of the afternoon," Coach Pete Riesen said. "Jay is just an outstanding wrestler. The way he looked today, I doubt if he'll lose any more."

His match was scoreless at the end of the first period, with it at 4-2 at the end of the second, before reaching the 8-4 final.

But after that, it was disaster for Bowling Green.

First, Mid-American Conference - (MAC) 142-pound champion - Brad Smith demolished last year's runner-up, Tom Mitchell, 16-3.

Then Chuck Biggert, runner-up in the MAC last year at 150 pounds, pinned BG's Dave Ibarra in 7:00.

NEXT CAME the closest win for Toledo for the afternoon, a 5-2 decision over the Falcon's Mark Mayer. Then the romp continued.

Kelly Carter defeated Jim Warrington in a major decision, 19-10, followed by another major decision for the Rockets, this one over Matt White.

To round out the match, Toledo finished with two pins. John Robinson pinned Bob Clark in 6:42 and heavyweight Dave Hendricks flattened Dan Stokes in 4:16.

"The keys of the match were at 158 and 167," Riesen said. "If we could have won those matches, things could have been different.

"Brad Smith was just untouchable today. Taking nothing away from Mitchell, but he wrestled an excellent match."

ANOTHER KEY was the heavyweight class, not that it effected the outcome of the match, but Stokes, who weighs about 210, found himself "outclassed" with Hendricks who weighs 285.

"Dan is almost too small to wrestle heavyweight," Riesen said. "Some of the guys he will be wrestling throughout the year are huge."

Final race brings swimmers' victory

A victory in the final race gave the Bowling Green men's swim team a close 59-54 win over Wayne State Saturday.

Jeff France, Jim Gleason, Greg Joseph and Jeff Wolf finished first in the 400 meter freestyle relay to lift the Falcons from a 54-52 deficit. Wayne State led after three events, despite victories by Kurt Lee in the 1000 meter freestyle and Gleason in the 200 meter freestyle.

WOLF AND JOHN McQue finished first and second in the 50 meter freestyle and Bowling Green led for the first time 19-15.

Wayne State's Jim Krueger won the individual medley, but Bowling Green's

Don Luikart squeaked into second place to keep a one-point lead. Then consecutive victories by Kurt Seibenick, Craig Casten and Wolf boosted the Falcons to their biggest advantage, 43-27.

Bowling Green improved its record to 2-0 and will travel to Notre Dame Friday.

Gymnasts exhibit skills

The Bowling Green women's gymnastic team rolled to an easy 128.65 to 110.30 victory over Wisconsin Eau-Claire Friday at the North Gym.

BG topped their opponents in all four events in running their perfect record to 2-0.

Linda Lehman won the vault with a 8.65, while Deb Glassburn copped the floor exercise with a 8.60. Cheryl Vasil won the beam with a 8.10 and Pam Culler was tops in the uneven bars with a 8.50.

"I'm very pleased with the team and the depth of the team," head coach Charles Simpson said. "We had two girls out and Linda England and Kelley McNeerney did a fine job filling in."

The Falcons will host Youngstown State Jan. 21.
